REFOCUS Education Board convenes for second meeting to advance sustainable transport and logistics education

The REFOCUS (REthinking and FOstering Competence and skills for sUustainable transport, Shipping, and logistics) project successfully held its second and final online Education Board meeting, marking a significant milestone in its mission to foster sustainable practices in transport, shipping, and logistics through innovative education and training.

The meeting brought together the members of the REFOCUS Education Board and project partners to review the progress made since the project's inception. Key updates were provided on completed activities, including the development of specialized courses, the execution of training schools, and the organization of multiplier events designed to disseminate knowledge and engage stakeholders.

During the one-hour session, participants discussed the outcomes of these initiatives and shared valuable insights on the next steps to further advance the project's goals. The meeting emphasized the importance of collaboration and continuous improvement in creating a curriculum that is responsive to contemporary societal and planetary needs.
